ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE

-1881-

The ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE, begun in 1709, is the oldest newspaper in the State, and the only daily published in Northern Virginia. It has survived, with few exceptions, all the public presses in America which saw with it the dawn of the ninetoenth contury. It lives, too, not in decay, but full of life and vigor, giving all the news, telling the truth without fear, favor or affection, trenching on the privacy of no man's home, but full to the brim with all public information, and giving daily honest judgments of public men and public measures.

It furnishes the news telegrans of the New York Associated Preseanc of Reuter's European agency, being, with but three exceptions, the only paper between Baltimore and Richmond that is thus connected with the great fountains of the world's news.

With the coming year all the long tried and improved methods of making a standard newspaper will be continued, with such additional facilities as past experience justifies the proprietor in believing will add to the capacity of the Gazette to serve its readers. It expects to render faithful service to the city, the state and the country by a candid criticism of men and events in the interest of the people of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

To meet all the demands upon it, the Gazette will be made a WASHINGTON and RICH. MOND NEWSPAPER, as well as an ALEX-ANDRIA JOURNAL. The Richmond and Washington news of past years has left little to improve, but yet greater effort will be made to insure absolute parfection in these departments,

The city of Alexandria will find as usual its daily history in each evening's issue, and the intelligence of that section of the Commonwealth which nature has bound to Alexandris by the curvature of its mountains or the courses of its rivers as well as that portion linked to us by the iron bands of railways, will be assiduously

The Business and Commercial columns of the Gazette will be filled with the earliest and most eract commercial news, edited with such painstaking care as will render an error, where even slight errors are dangerous, impossible.

The Cattle Markets of all the leading points of the world whose rates affect this market will be quoted, and regular statements of the Baltimore, Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria sales of cattle will appear.

The Flour, Grain and Product movements will be noted daily, and the sales of the Alexandris and neighboring markets given with accuracy and dispatch. The Grocery and other markets will receive constant attention, and the money or stock markets of the country epitomized for its columns, full details being given to all stocks, &c , which find investors in thi section of the country.

The advertising columns of the Gazette offer inducements which experience has shown to afford greater returns for a small investment than any other which can be made.

The day had been a sultry one. All day long the flower of the American navy had been thucdering at the sea wall of Fort Sumter. The massive masonry had been slowly crumbling, but the shades of evening had put an end to the furious cannonading, and the gunboats and monitors had retired out of range and came to suchor for the night. On the bar or just outside, the frigates and heavy side wheelers took up a position. Beyond 'R bellion Roads,' and extending out to sea, was a double panked column of gunboats; while almost in range of Sumter and Battery Wagner, the New Ironsides and the monitors were ranged. After it grew dark a thunder storm began to work up from the westward. Fitful flishes of lightning and the rumbling of thunder gave promis; of a stormy night. About 10 o'clock the storm was raging furiously, and on the low unsheltered decks o the ironclads the watch were exposed to the fury of the pelting rais.

Near midnight the storm began working back with redoubled violence. Fissh followed flaso, and peal followed peal, roling and crashing with terrific concussions. At times the tossing waters were lit up with a weird, ghastly light, plainly revealing the low lying islands and the graping embrasures of the fort bard by. Suddenly the heavy thud of a gun came down on the wings of the wind from seaward, and following it a clinking, z zzag, blinding shaft of light streams across the heavens. The momentary light illuminated every per ion of the broad expanse. Then there was a :remendous crash that shook the solid monitors to their keels. As the thunder roared and reverberated and died away in the distance, the deep boom of a heavy Dahlgreen kun was heard out on the bar. Presently another, and another, in rapid succession. The warch below came springing out into the storm, every eye perring into the darkness.

While every ear listened to catch the distant sounds came the stirring music of the American D. F. BEASHEAR.

navy-s dizen drums beating the tumultuous measured roll and tap-tap, and a dezen files screaming in shril cadence. Rickets stream a oft and lights flash intelligence that s insid the blockade and bound in.

Then there was a tumuit for a second. The monitors beat to quarters, steam is rung up, and the trained or we go to their stations. From under the shadow of Fort Sumter I straig through the iron embrasure and see fittul flishes along the line of gunboats. Yes! the tugitive was running the gauntlet of the fluet -trusting to the darkness to escape. But her people did not know that they must almost rub the muzz'es of our gurs to pass. The plucky fugitive was rapidly coming up, and in a few moments more would be blown out of the water. The drums have ceased beating, and from afar come quick explamations, the heavy boom ing of the monitors and the swift revolutions of a screw. Iron clad after iron clad make the steamer a targer; but it is pi'ch dark, and her swift way is against them. Above the tumult of the elements come the loud roar of huge guns; but still those adventurous spirits picked their way through the inky blackness. A bright light is blozing upon the ramparts of Sumter, and broad off on our port beam, in the direction of Fort Moultrie. Rockets are stream ing continuously—the bearings the Confede rates display to help the fugitive,

On she comes. The pulsations of the tireles eng nes are now heard, together with the swift churning of the sorow. Now she is passing the mocitor ahead, and in an instant will be alongside. The Montauk delivers both her guns; there comes a flash of lightning, and the steam er is revealed for the first time. From her low smoke stack the smoke is rolling in thick masses, and directly in front, pershed on the bridge, is the pilot. He stands upright as an iron bar In her waist a hand is slung easting the load. As I looked his arm was swaying and the lead whirling over his head, then it was dark. Ashe came abreast, fairly pushing the blackness before her, the leadsman's voice, full and strong, spic d, too, with a flavor of Cookney accent, racg on :

'Ard a 'alftwol" Another flash revealed everything, the man in the wheel-house whirling the wheel, the Cockney gathering in the slack line, as if intent or having another cast before being blown up, and hen a bell tinkles, the turret turns steadily to port, and the men crouch away from the recoil; then the vehement order to "fire!" breathless pause, and then a terrible malediction for both primers refuse to burn, and the bold bicckade runner had vanished around the northeast angle of cumter!

Some men are born lucky and some have luck thrust upon them: but generally the man who is reckless and bold to execute is favored by fortune. It was thought the blockade runner supposed the outer-line of vessels was the block ade, and when he discovered that he had rus into a hornet's nest, had promptly decided to run in at all hazards That a special providence interfered in his case is evident from the singular circumstance or two primers failing to burn. As for the failure to hit her, all veterans will comprehend the difficulty of hitting an object in rapid motion especially with heavy artiliery .- J T. G. in New York New.
